1. Anatomy is the study of body ________________.

2. Physiology is the study of body ________________.

3. Blood clotting is regulated by ________________ feedback, but body temperature is controlled by ________________ feedback.

4. The tendency for physiological systems to stabilize internal conditions is called __________.

5. A person lying face down in the anatomical position is in the ______________ position.

6. The common name for the axilla (axillary region) is the ________________.

7. The anatomical name for the wrist is the ________________.

8. Which type of section would separate the superior and inferior portions of the body? ________________

9. The opposite of medial is ________________.

10. The diaphragm separates the abdominopelvic cavity from the ________________ cavity.

Bonus Question (Note: 100% is the maximum quiz score):
The two essential functions of body cavities are: